HOUSE FAILS TO TAKE FINAL ACTION ON THE IMMIGRATION BILL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The house failed today to take final action on the Johnson bill providing for the exclusion of immigrants for a period of fourteen months.

Efforts to amend the bill in several major particulars failed during the day. The bill which provides for the exclusion of all immigrants, students and farmers from Canada and Mexico for short periods will be before the house for final passage next week. An amendment introduced by Representative Blanton, Democrat of Texas, providing for the elimination of the student exemption clause was defeated. Another amendment extending the farm labor provisions to other countries besides Canada and Mexico was defeated.

Resolution Calls for Appointment of Representative on Disarmament

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The first rumble about the League of Nations in the Senate in six months came today, when Senator Thomas F. Walsh, Democrat of Montana, introduced a resolution providing for the appointment of an American representative on the League of Nations disarmament committee.

Senator Walsh's move came on the heels of President Wilson's refusal to name an American representative on the committee because the United States was not a member of the League.

APPROXIMATELY $100,000,000 BANKRUPT BY DISARMMENT

(International News Service.)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Vice-Governor Platt of the Federal reserve board today approved the Young bill authorizing $100,000,000 to be used through federal loan banks in reducing the national debt.

unwarranted and unfounded suspicion. I do not think the people of the United States harbor any such designs, and that they have not received from the position they have long maintained, that they ought to be a general plan, adhered to by all nations, for a reduction in armament.

"We are advised that the estimates for the army and navy of the United States for the current year amount to the almost inconceivable sum of $1,500,000,000. If there were no other reason, the condition of the world at this time, staggering under heavy burdens of taxation, would furnish a reason for reduction of armament and therefore tax reduction."

Senator Walsh said his introduction of President Wilson's refusal. To do otherwise "in view of what has happened here in the last 18 months," might, Walsh said, lay the president open to the charge that he was making another effort to "force us into the league."

"But," he continued, "if the great powers of the earth had sent in some other way an invitation to the United States to participate in this conference, no one would be heard to urge that such an invitation be declined."

"But what is the difference? It is this: They chose to send their invitation through the League of Nations. The Senate has the duty in this matter as well as the President. This body is an integral part of the treaty-making power. We cannot fail to take cognizance of this invitation."

Senator Lodge, chairman of the foreign relations committee, apparently was under the impression that Walsh was seeking immediate consideration of his resolution.

"This is a very serious matter," Lodge said, "and I think it should go to the committee on foreign relations."

It went there. And there is little likelihood of its coming out of there before March 4 next. The Republicans control the committee and there is little disposition on their part to deal with matters concerning the controversial league until after Senator Warren G. Harding is succeeded in the White House.

CONDUCTOR OF HORSE CAR NOW WINNER OF 1920 NOBEL PRIZE

(International News Service.)
CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—The "Old Conductor" who has been the featured attraction of the American Circus, according to the Chicago Tribune, is now the winner of the Nobel prize for 1920.

The name of the book which has won fame for a former Chicago street car conductor is "Hunger."

Dr. Andrew Dow is one of the "old timers" who remembers Knute of the days of horse drawn street cars.

"I remember him well," said Dr. Dow in a recent interview. "A dreamer boy; tall, thin, white-haired. He came to Chicago from North Dakota. The passengers used to get mad at him, so Knute lost his job. An old lady asked him which way the car was going and his confusion brought about his discharge."

Hansen went from Chicago to New York, engaged as a fisherman off the Newfoundland Banks, and finally drifted back to Norway, where he began to write. He is 48 years of age in humble circumstances, and his book tells the story of his struggles to make a living.

REMARKS BY WILSON

(Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—President Wilson in his annual message to Congress today said that the appearance of the Young bill authorizing $100,000,000 to be used through federal loan banks in reducing the national debt, was a "great step" toward the solution of the country's financial problems.

"The Young bill," he said, "is a landmark in the history of our country's financial policy. It is a step which we have long needed, and which we are now taking."

THREE CENTS GOES TO FARMER OF EVERY DIME SPENT FOR LOAF BREAD

(International News Service.)
CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—Criticism directed at organized grain exchanges when wheat prices, with all other commodities, began tumbling several weeks ago, has materially decreased, according to agricultural economists.

Many agricultural publications now are aiming criticism at the Federal Reserve Board, declaring that the 50 per cent increase in discount rates during the last year has worked a tremendous hardship on the farmer. Grain men say that the price reduction throughout the world, with bumper crops and other economic factors, tends to the fall of grain prices a natural consequence.

With the grain exchanges free from the unwarranted charges of attempted price control, attention for the time is being centered on the baker and his profit. In this connection the National Crop Improvement Service has presented an interesting discussion. Taking as a working basis wheat at $2.34 a bushel in Chicago, the association says: "The farmer gets his cash at the elevator, $2.13; the elevator takes 5 cents a bushel; 10 days' interest at 7 1/2 per cent would be .014; freight and tax would be .004, and the grain commission takes 1 per cent, or .022 a bushel."

These figures, it is stated, represent the total received by each person from bread at 10 cents, a reasonable price with wheat at $2.26. The farmer gets a little more than 3 cents, the baker sells for 5 cents and gets about 1 1/2 cents of the 10 cents, and the retailer gets 2 cents, according to the association.

The grain commission man, whose commission is so small, finances the whole transaction up to the time he separates the wheat and sells it to the miller.

CONFERENCE BETWEEN SENATOR AND MINISTER CAUSES A BIG RUMPUS

(International News Service.)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The state department has taken up the matter of a conference held yesterday between Julia Blanch, minister from Guatemala, and Senator Moxley of New Hampshire. A discussion of Guatemalan affairs with Senator Moxley by the minister is regarded as a breach of diplomatic procedure, it was learned today, and the minister was told to leave the country.

COMMUNITY SPIRIT SHOULD BE FOSTERED

One factor entering into the upbuilding of a community is a spirit of cooperation between the various sections of that community, with all sections and all factions pulling together for a general upbuilding, rather than concentration of enlargement of one section, to the detriment of another.

A spirit of upbuilding of the entire community, lying about Daytona, is greatly needed at this time, to assist in making this community the greatest resort center of the South. Nature has endowed this section of the East Coast with the greatest beauties at her hand. She has given us the Most Wonderful Beach in the World, none excepted; she has been most lavish with her tropical growth and with her flowers and foliage; the sun-kissed beauties answer to her every touch, making verdant this God-given scenic delights.

One thing which nature cannot give, and the one factor which is greatly needed from the hand and mind of man, in the community in which we live, is this spirit of "live and let live," "doing unto others as we would that it was done unto us."

From New Smyrna to Ormond there stretches a panorama of the greatest natural beauties in the South, and more notable because of the distance of less beautiful nature on either side of this 25 miles of heaven sent glory. It is as if a magic wand had touched this spot and transformed it from a desolate waste, a vast expanse of forest, into this one spot where harmony and good will should always be reflected.

There are many sections of this community, such as Port Orange, Wilbur, By the Sea, Daytona Beach, Seabreeze, Ormond, Ormond and Daytona, held together by a bond of community spirit which should always be most evident, which should cause the residents of each to in every way boost for the other, and in no way harm or deter the growth of the other in any manner whatsoever. This community spirit should be made evident to strangers among us as well, who are less affected by corporate lines, and who think of this community as one large city, bound together by the same desires and wishes, by the same spirit of boosting, and by the enjoyment of the entire community, not one small portion of it.

Too many times disparaging remarks are made of the efforts to upbuild or so many of the younger settlements of this community, by those who should know better. Nowhere is it more true than here, that the rapid growth of one section materially assists in the upbuilding of another portion, and that discouragement in the growth of one section is a detriment in the growth of the community as a whole.

There are men with visions among us, yes, many men and women, who are fostering this community spirit, who see, in the future, a solidly built community of delightful southern homes stretching the entire distance in the limits of this community; who see this great expanse of country, stretching along the most beautiful portion of the Halifax bound together as one unit, with everyone offering a good word for another, with a boost always ready for another section of the community. And we are optimistic enough to believe that such a vision will some day come true, when all men will be working for the furthering of interests in the community as a whole, and not for a small portion, within some definitely laid down corporate limits.

No matter in what imaginary division one settles to make his home, let each and everyone think of that person and that home as having added one more to the community for the good of all, and then, and only then, will the community, lying along the grandest stretch of the old Atlantic become known as "The Most Beautiful Winter Resort in the World."

HELEN PURDUE Sale of Fall Millinery. 15 Volusia Ave. 76-11-13-15

The robbery was reported by a woman who was in the house at the time. She said she was alone and was frightened when she saw the robbers. She called for help and the robbers fled.

It is believed the robbers entered by removing a screen from a window opening on the front porch. A watch was taken from a dresser, and a few cases, containing a number of pieces of jewelry was also taken. At that time Dr. Merryday returned from a call and he is believed to have been speaking to him frightened the burglar, so that he did not proceed further.

The jewelry case was found to have been emptied in the hallway, and left while the jewelry was taken. About the same time a man was reported to have entered the Davidson home at 218 South Ridgewood avenue although he was unsuccessful in securing anything. T. F. Williams, living at the corner of Orange and South Ridgewood avenue was also awakened about the time of the Merryday robbery by what he supposed to be someone prowling around his home, but no entrance was effected.

No trace of the articles taken from the Merryday home has been found by the local police.

Residents should exercise especial care at this time of the year, as it is known that gangs of robbers follow the crowds of tourists south at this season, leaving many robberies in their wake.

Miss Marian Brewster Chosen to Play Title Role in "The Lost Princess" the Operetta

Miss Marian Brewster, of Daytona, has been chosen to take the part of the title role in the approaching production of the operetta, "The Lost Princess," at the Auditorium on December 31st and January 1st.

Miss Brewster has had considerable experience in dramatic roles and has always acquitted herself with great credit. She has unusual dramatic ability, a charming voice and a finished musical education. She has been highly recommended for this role by those who have seen her talents put to the test.

In this very important part, Miss Brewster will have a very wide scope in which to display her ability both as a singing and dramatic artist. In the beginning of the play, she will be known as "Bo-Peep" and as belonging to "Mother Goose." Later in the act it is discovered that she is the lost child of the "Queen of Hearts," which had been stolen years before by "Old Mother Goose." It is just at the close of this act that her true identity is fully revealed and it is established that she is the lost princess.

Mrs. C. A. Randall, the charming and popular wife of the well known Daytona Beach banker, has finally consented to portray the part, famed in the recollection of every child, "Old Mother Goose." Mrs. Randall is the organist of the Community Methodist church, is very popular in social and literary circles and has a voice of natural sweetness and unusual range. There is no doubt but that Mrs. Randall will give a very clever and pleasant rendition of this interesting and important character.

There are in fact eleven principal parts or leads in this production. They are "Mother Goose," "Little Boy Blue," "Bo-Peep," "Jack Goose," "Red Riding Hood," "Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe," "Lord Penelope," "Lord Buncomb," "King Cole," "Queen of Hearts," "Page," and the "Lost Princess," the latter part being taken by the same person as "Bo-Peep." A brief synopsis of the play follows:

"The Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe" was a very wicked old woman and made her living by kidnapping children, demanding a ransom for their return. One night she stole the Princess of the land, the baby girl of the "King and Queen of Hearts." It was a stormy night and the old woman found she could not get back to the shore with the child, so she left it on the doorstep of the "House of Mother Goose," who named her "Bo-Peep" and loved her as her own daughter, never dreaming that the Princess Royal was beneath her roof. The only clue to the child's parentage was a heart-shaped, golden locket hung about her neck. This "Mother Goose" carefully removed and kept for the day when "Bo-Peep" should wish to return.

Jack, son of "Mother Goose," knew his little "Bo-Peep" like an own brother, loving her dearly and helping her with her sheep. For Bo-Peep's memory had been faulty ever since the locket had been removed from her neck. Jack's heart is filled with foreboding that he will lose her out of his life.

Two strangers, Lords from the court, arrive at the Dairy and tell the assembled multitude that a new search has begun for the daughter of the Queen of Hearts. It appears that soon after the disappearance of the child, a Knave stole the tarts of the Queen. The King pursued the rogue and ran so far and so fast that he "vanished in thin air," leaving the Queen, dumbly bereft. After a long wilderness the Queen wedded Old King Cole. At the King and Queen have no heir, King Cole desires to find the lost daughter of the Queen. This news creates a great sensation in the land, and the Old Woman hurries to the House of Mother Goose to try to get the child and win the reward for her return.

Jack scorns the offer and gives the locket to Bo-Peep, telling her of her royal parentage. When Bo-Peep puts on the locket, which the Old Woman has bewitched, she forgets all that has happened to her in the "House of Mother Goose," remembering only that she is the Princess and departs with the courtiers for the court of Old King Cole.

The arrival of the Princess at Court makes a great sensation and editors crowd the court to ask her hand in marriage. Great preparations are made for the wedding but the poor little Princess remains so sad and the King and Queen know not where to choose the bridegroom who shall please the Princess.

At last the Queen proposes that the King shall send forth a proclamation that whomever shall make the Princess smile shall have her hand and half the kingdom.

Jack arrives at the palace when the proclamation is at its height, and when the Princess meets him, her sleeping memory stirs and haunts her with its echoes.

The Lords try to frighten Jack into running away, but he learns of the promise of the King, and he determines to enter the lists.

When the trial takes place, the Princess cannot be coaxed to smile, even the least bit until Jack arrives and unites to all the friends of Bo-Peep's days, having first induced the Princess to remove the bewitched locket. Suddenly at the entrance of her dear Mother Goose, Bo-Peep remembers everything, and smiles a glad welcome to her old friends. Jack wins the prize.

Back of this production and co-operating in every possible way with the director, Mrs. Horace H. Reynolds, are the two strong committees, the personnel of which guarantees the unqualified success of the undertaking. They are:

Executive: S. J. Peabody, Robert S. Holmes and James Heston.
Cost: Mrs. W. E. Hitchcock and Miss Sarah Burrell, of Daytona, and Mrs. Lyle Ramsey and Misses Beulah Honey and Jean McCauley.

"On and after Monday, December 6, our store will remain open evenings until Xmas. Do it now. DITS that LAST."—ROWES. 1-12-21

At the Daytona Beach hotel are: Misses Ella and Sarah Penby, St. Louis, Mo.; N. W. Morley and party, Mt. Dora, Fla.; W. G. Mousar, Ottawa, Can.; F. H. Warren, Montpelier, Vt.

A. W. Shaw observes that now that the tourists are arriving in goodly numbers every day, the town should put on its Sunday clothes. He suggests that the streets should be cleaned a little often.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Young, of Monticello, N. Y., and Mr. Young's sister, Mrs. Katherine L. Van Scoenbergh, of Valley City, N. D., are here and are pleasantly located for the winter at 136 Orange avenue.

Miss Katherine Kennedy has arrived from her summer home in Sandusky, N. Y., and has rented the Ocean Villa, an Ocean avenue next to the Seaside Inn, through Horn & Wilson, for the winter. Later she will be joined by other friends and relatives from New York.

Reception to All Michigan Tourists at Beach Tuesday

Mrs. Nellie Johnson Burge is doing everything she can to make the general reception to all visiting tourists to be given in the beautiful Villa Marie parlors between 2:30 and 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, December 14th, a memorable event.

In consequence, it is hoped every resident of the Triple Cities will feel it not only a privilege but a duty to be present and give all of the winter guests a warm and cordial greeting.

Mrs. Burge will have the reception parlors adorned in holiday attire. They will give every appearance of a genuine Christmas with generous decoration of red holly, poinsettia and the red hibiscus, growing so profusely in the Villa Marie yard. Punch and other refreshments will be served. Miss Ellen Lightfoot, of Atlanta, Ga., will be in charge of the punch and she will have the assistance of Miss Louise Holmes and several other charming young women.

R. S. Holmes Speaks at a Meeting of the Educators in S. C.

Secretary Robert S. Holmes, of the National Forum, leaves today for Columbia, S. C., where he was invited by Hon. P. P. Clinton, of Washington, D. C., to participate in a meeting of national educators. The states of Florida, Georgia and South Carolina, are to be represented and many of the educational leaders of the country are expected to be present and take part in the discussions. Mr. Holmes will address the gathering on "The Importance of Community Organization in Public Education." Surely no better equipped man from the standpoint of successful experience could have been selected to treat with this subject.

Mr. Holmes expects to return home on Wednesday or Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Sutton, of Flint, Mich., arrived by automobile yesterday and hope to secure a satisfactory apartment in a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Murray, of Odenton, Md., have arrived by automobile and are looking for a permanent location for the winter.

James A. Hewlett, accompanied by his son, Carlisle, arrived yesterday and are temporarily located at 122 Atlantic avenue. About the first man he met was his old neighbor and friend, Capt. J. B. Chambers, who proceeded to take him out and show him a hole in the ocean containing about a thousand blue fish he had been saving for him. Mr. Hewlett is from Nicholasville, Ky., and he says he is used to Captain John's fish stocks.

Lost and Found

Chas. Bates, Dec. 22—2000. One of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bates of Daytona, Fla., recently lost a diamond ring at Daytona Beach. The ring was a diamond set with a diamond and a sapphire. The ring was found by a young man named Fred McHenry and given to the owner. The ring was found on the beach near the Hotel Seaside. The ring was found on the beach near the Hotel Seaside. The ring was found on the beach near the Hotel Seaside.

A party composed of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bates, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Ramsey and Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, all of Daytona, Fla., who are driving south from their homes, have reached the hotel Sunday morning, and several of the party decided to take a dip in the Atlantic. While young Baker is reported to be a good swimmer, he was discouraged by the undercurrent at low tide and after being carried far out to sea, was rescued by the lifeguard and taken to the shore. The party will remain at the hotel several days before continuing their south.

Attorney H. A. Hore is said to be responsible for a wonderful improvement in the local camping grounds during the past day or two. He has seen to it that a lot of work has been put on it. There has been a general clearing up, it has been considerably enlarged, the shrubs have been cut out, it has been leveled up, with additional improvements have been put in and it is altogether more beautiful and comfortable than it was. It is surprising so much could be accomplished in so little time.

It is reported that Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Payne, of Washington, will be here to spend their winter here. They arrived here last week. Mr. Payne's sister, who is married to Mr. W. E. Payne, is a resident of the Daytona Beach hotel. Mrs. Payne and Mr. Payne are both well known in Washington.

The New York cotton market was steady today but the demand was light. Attention is now centered upon the official crop estimate which will be made public on Monday. The severe slump in raw cotton prices has brought much suffering in many parts of the cotton belt and the readjustment is causing distress to make financial sacrifices. In some parts of Louisiana land is selling at $100 an acre which brought $200 an acre a year ago.

Livestock has fallen off in price also. Thousands of bales of cotton are being left in the fields because growers are unable to pick it at a profit. The movement to curtail production next year seems to be gaining momentum in the South. Friday's exports lifted the total for the season above 2,000,000 bales. The 2,000,000 bale mark was passed last year on November 29.

GRAIN: The New York grain market was a trifle stronger today. Export buyers were in the market Friday and took about 1,500,000 bushels of wheat. In addition to wheat 300,000 bu. of rye and 10,000 bushels of corn were reported purchased at Chicago for export. The efforts to establish a $100,000,000 export corporation are being watched with much interest, but traders have no exaggerated hopes of its success. While wheat exports were heavier than usual this week receipts at primary points were smaller.

This indicated that the holding movement of the farmers was becoming more effective. It is roughly estimated that 174,000,000 bushels of wheat were cleared in the first five months of the season, and in addition it was estimated that contracts were made for more than 40,000,000 bushels for export in December, January and February. This will cut deeply into the surplus but offsetting the large amounts distributed about 16,000,000 bushels will be received from Canada in the immediate future.

MARKET: The whole market was under pressure on the part of the stock exchange through the week. The average price of a representative industrial issue on Jan. 10 was 67.57 against 65.75 yesterday and 62.53 last week. The 67.57 price of 15 representative industrial issues on last sale was 64.57 yesterday and 62.53 last week.

BONDS: All issues of Liberty Bonds except the 3 1/2's yielded better than 9% at today's closing price. Two issues yielded better than 8%. The 4 1/2's yielded: Second 4 1/2's, 8.25%; Third 4 1/2's, 8.25%; Fourth 4 1/2's, 8.25%; Victory 3 1/2's, 8.75%; Victory 4 1/2's, 8.75%.

INTEREST: Money for call loans was under 1 per cent all week in New York. Some bankers predicted a further advance next week, and a rise in federal reserve discounts.

The United States government is preparing to go into the market for bonds and will sell up to six per cent of the outstanding debt. It will be issued through the Federal Reserve bank in two installments, one paying 5% per cent and the other 6 per cent. Between December 15 and January 15 there are three issues of treasury certificates of indebtedness amounting more than $1,000,000,000 to be paid off. Longer credit terms forward dating of bills are now being offered by some business concerns, especially those selling to farmers and rural communities, in an effort to stimulate business during the present depression. #### WHEEL TOYS

Kiddie Cars, Rocking Horses, Automobiles, Wagons, Coasters, Tricycles, Merry-Go-Rounds, Speeders, Sammy Cars and Baby Jumpers and Baby Bath-tubs, Baby Wardrobes and Baby Dressing Tables and many other Toys too numerous to mention. Come early and make your selection.

The Happiness of Early Selection

"My Christmas shopping is one of the pleasures of the year," a lady remarked in our store the other day. "And," she added, "I always come here to do it, and come here early, because I know I'll find what I want." Of course, we are always to have what is newest and most attractive—goods the quality of which is above question or reproach. But much of the pleasure of Christmas shopping is due to this customer's custom of doing it early. It is not too early now.

Our Wonderful Toy Shop

Makes Children's Dreams Come True

Here the hearts of children are understood; you will find just the things that you have been longing for ever since last Christmas—perhaps those toys that Santa Claus had for you but got out of his bag in the haste and bustle of those pretty things to so many boys and girls. ## Most Beautiful Bungalow Town in the Sunny South

Reposing on an eminence high above the beautiful Halifax River on the narrow peninsula separating Florida's most beautiful river from the grand old Atlantic, with the finest and fastest beach anywhere in the world stretching at one side, with a panorama of streams and lake islands stretching along the other side, Wilbur-by-the-Sea, Most Beautiful Bungalow Town in the Sunny South, is fast rising from a small colony of homes to a community of permanence which will, in a few years, take its place among Florida's most famous resorts—Palm Beach, Bal Harbour, Daytona, Miami—sharing with these a name which will spread from coast to coast.

Wilbur-by-the-Sea, of all resorts in Florida, has every advantage, with the disadvantages left out. It has the world famous beach at its door, a river frontage of five miles on the beautiful Halifax River, where fish abound and boating is at its best, bathing in the Atlantic ocean, a multitude of most wonderful drives through vistas unobtainable in beauty to one who has not viewed Florida among the palms and palm-trees, oranges and citrus groves—truly an unrivaled location for a winter home, free from the hurry of the city, where just the right amount of quietness prevails, with the pleasures of congenial company thrown in.

There were those who said, when Mr. J. W. Wilbur a few years ago picked this spot as the most beautiful in all Florida for a community of "homey" homes, that it would not grow. There were those who said, at Mr. Wilbur's death several years ago, that the colony could not continue. There were those who said, when grim war stepped in and stopped building and improvements for several years, that Wilbur would not reach a state of permanence such as had been planned by Mr. Wilbur in 1911 and to which he devoted the few remaining years of his life.

But Wilburites, those of the Triple Cities of Daytona, Seabreeze and Daytona Beach, Floridians and the many northern communities which are interested in this magnificent colony of winter homes, knew and had faith that there would arise from this narrow strip of peninsula land below Daytona a community such as was dreamed of when it was established, because the bungalow town was fostered by a community spirit which was indomitable.

Those who had scoffed at the idea of a resort community on the peninsula stood by and saw the founder of the town, with his engineers and staff of workmen, within two months' time, lay out finely constructed shell roads, saw cottages and bungalows arise almost over night, and soon after saw a water plant installed and a wharf on the river built; saw one of Florida's most successful hotels arise, overshadowing the beach and harboring during the winter months a select company of men and women.

After Mr. Wilbur's death several years ago the scoffers stood by and saw—not as they expected, the fading away of a dream—but a redoubling of the efforts of those who had stood by the founder, and those who had come to love Wilbur-by-the-Sea, a rededication of that community spirit which has stood out so prominently in the building of Florida's famous bungalow town. They saw plans furthered for the permanence of the community, more homes being erected each winter month, a growing of that progressive spirit and love for the community that makes Wilbur the resort that it is.

When the war was ended again the scoffers had to stand by and see a regeneration of the spirit which had built Wilbur, a renewal of the building of homes, a furtherance of the public utilities to the point where they now are, offering every convenience of the largest city but with the spirit which is not found elsewhere, that spirit which prompts a pulling together in all movements for the good of the town, that spirit which makes it a better place in which to live, that spirit which is making Wilbur grow faster and on a more permanent tangent than any similar resort town in the state of Florida.

Many resort towns boast ideal locations in a scenic way, but many are handicapped by the inaccessibility of reaching them from larger cities. In this respect Wilbur-by-the-Sea can point with pride to the fact that she lies in a most advantageous position, easily accessible from all points in the state and from the north.

Six miles south of Daytona, almost opposite the town of Port Orange, which is the railway station for Wilbur, across the bridge from the town of Port Orange and on a beautiful driveway along the river from the Triple Cities and Ormond, and on the world's most famous speedway, Wilbur offers easy access by rail, water, land, air or sea.

Wilbur is built on the narrowest portion of the Halifax peninsula, dividing the river and the sea. But 800 feet from river to ocean at this point, Wilbur extends for more than five miles along this peninsula, arising 25 to 30 feet above the river and higher than the mainland, assuring an ideal climate and free from malarial conditions.

On the Wilbur property is to be found one of the world's greatest relics, a great shell mound, the proportions of which are of the largest of any of its kind known to scientists. These shell mounds, arising 50 feet or more, are claimed to be deposits of oyster shells placed there by the Indian tribes, the accumulation of many, many hundreds of years. They stand today a monument to the first settlers of Wilbur, the Red Man. This deposit of oyster shell has been used quite extensively by the town of Wilbur in building hard-surfaced roads throughout the property. Many miles of excellent shell roads abound in the property, the streets of the town are paved full width and the deposits in the mound will serve for this purpose in Wilbur for hundreds of miles of roads.

Nature's beauties were never more clearly presented than they are in the ideally beautiful spot where Wilbur rests. The stately palms, with drooping Spanish moss in abundance, for the mile with far stretched limbs of ancient growth, the tropical flowers, which grow in abundance here with the South's sun-drenched and air-swept; the hundreds of varieties of birds, the ducks, the pelicans and sea gulls; the murres over the great expanse of ocean; the magnificent nights such as only poets have sung about and which are realized only here, these are but suggestions of the wonders of nature, which bring those who make their winter home here close to nature and spiritual things.

But ethereal beauty without the conveniences and improvements of present day life would not satisfy. For those who have to angle for the sunny beauties in southern waters the Wilbur bungalow ground is supreme. The many trails and bays to reach the island of islands in the Halifax opposite Wilbur offer to men the delights of a happy day with rod and reel.

Along this expanse of river the United States government has established a game reserve in which are found in variety and quantity second to none in the South. Under the protecting eye of Uncle Sam the blue heron, the pelicans, the white herons and the ducks, the sea gulls and the cardinals, the black birds and the crows, the blue jays and the sand pipers make their homes and add their own to the delights of the winter season.

The country round about abounds in hunting, big game being found within a few miles of Wilbur. For those who wish to golf, several excellent courses may be found within a few miles of the bungalow town, while tennis courts, croquet and quail grounds are provided in the town.

There are no features of public utility which point more to the permanence of a town than the soundness of its water works system and its lighting plant. Both have been constructed in Wilbur-by-the-Sea along lines allowing for a multiplication of the population many times over.

The water supply is obtained from a turbine with over 100 feet deep, water being pumped into tanks under heavy pressure, this placing on hand at all times a great abundance of water for all needs. The analysis of Wilbur water shows it to be on a par with the finest and purest water in the state.

The electric light plant, recently installed in Wilbur-by-the-Sea gives this bungalow town one of the most excellent lighting plants in the state. It is built along lines for a city of large population at great expense, assuring residents of the town continuous lighting service. Other public utilities in Wilbur have reached a high state of perfection, assuring residents every convenience of the larger cities.

Some Florida resorts are resorts of most magnificent homes, expensive constructed and elaborately appointed. This is not the case of Wilbur-by-the-Sea. It is a bungalow town of cozy homes, looking more to comfort than style, homely than show. A majority of the bungalows in Wilbur are unpretentious but homelike and comfortable to a great degree, the kind of a home where the true spirit of home reigns, rather than show and pretense. The bungalows are thoroughly modern, with running water, electric lights, modern plumbing and all conveniences of a city apartment, but they have what most city apartments lack, that spirit of rest, quietude and peace that cannot be purchased for gold or silver.

Wilbur-by-the-Sea as well can boast of a hotel of a class far above the average resort town. "Toronita," which to the Indians meant "Land of Sunshine," is the name which the Wilbur hotel is christened and a more happy selection could not be conceived. An approach of coquina rock, that peculiar formation of coquina shell found nowhere in the world but on the east coast of Florida, thoroughly fireproof throughout, with private bath attached to every room, electrically lighted and steam heated, standing on this eminence overlooking the Atlantic and the Halifax, the Toronita is a revelation to folks who come South in the winter, when they find this hotel of most modern appointments so pleasantly located in this spot which comprises all of the natural charms of Florida.

Enjoyable relaxation is the state of pleasure which guests of Toronita find themselves in at the Toronita, rather than in the social whirl of the resorts which abound in this section. Quietness and peace, with homelike surroundings, but with a table served with many foods shipped specially from the North, the Toronita presents to the visitor here a board groaning with abundance of the finest food obtainable, suitable for the most exacting epicurian.

Daytona joins with other nearby towns and cities in extending to Wilbur-by-the-Sea and to those who have helped to make it the most beautiful bungalow town in the Sunny South, most hearty congratulations for the success which has attended those efforts which have placed Wilbur-by-the-Sea on a pinnacle and which has given the neighboring bungalow town a permanence which speaks for the upbuilding and rapid growth of the community to the south of Daytona.

The indomitable spirit which has prompted its growth, the community spirit which has brought to the colony a true sense of municipal pride, will carry it through to a culmination of the dream which its founder had of making Wilbur-by-the-Sea the ideal resort town of the South.

Secretary S. B. Crosby Calls for Spirit of Cooperation in Work to be Accomplished by Chamber

BY S. B. CROSBY
Executive Secretary, Daytona Chamber of Commerce.

YOUR CITY

Delightful Daytona
If you want to live in the kind of a town
Like the kind of a town you like.
You needn't slip your clothes in a grip
And start on a long, long hike.
You'll only find what you left behind.
For there's nothing that's really new,
It's a knock at yourself—
When you knock your town.
It isn't your town—IT'S YOU!

Real towns are not made by men afraid.
Let somebody else get ahead.
When everyone works and nobody shirks.

You can raise a town from the dead and it, when you make your personal slide.

You neighbor can make one, too.
Your town will be what you want to be.

It isn't your town—IT'S YOU!

Editor:
Some time ago I came across the short little poem which I pass on to you—very suggestive, isn't it?—and am I right in applying it to our "Delightful Daytona"? In this connection I want to speak of the Chamber of Commerce and what it might accomplish, and when I mention the Chamber I do not mean its secretary nor its board of governors, nor they two together. I do mean its membership, the rank and file of its members.

A Chamber of Commerce is a Chamber of citizenship; its primary function is to make the public think and, second, to direct the channel of thought into expression. When the public begins to think, the first step towards business prosperity has been taken. If the public is to begin thinking right about its own future, this fundamental fact must be kept clearly in the front, viz: all property values, all business values, and all professional values that exist in any city are made by the spirit of its citizens; and the converse is equally true—whatever potential values are absent from a given community are missing because the spirit of that community has never prompted effort to procure or develop them. Spirit, according to Webster, means "Vigor of intellect, temper, disposition of mind, sentiment, action, perception, animation."

Building a bigger and better city is the one task to which the business community is called. This spirit animation creates the Chamber's conviction of men, money and time every day in the year. The results of its endeavor are so many and so valuable as to challenge the admiration of every citizen who is informed as to the work; not every citizen knows, however, indeed, a vast majority do not. They enjoy the fruits of the Chamber's labors in unending degree but without realizing how the benefits come to them—benefits of countless form come to this city from the presence of the great company of persons drawn here for shorter or longer periods and some become permanent residents.

What agency is standing night and day the year around with beckoning hands and voice shouting the praises of your city? None but the Chamber of Commerce. Because of this organization the rest of the world knows about the advantages and attractions of our city. Because of this publicity prominent men have located here recently. What is needed is that the facts which induced these very desirable citizens to choose Daytona for their home, be brought forcibly to the attention of others.

We are dependent on this, we have no industries, we cannot produce, we can only attract, hence there is constant need of publicity, of direct advertising intelligently planned and carried out with an organization behind it to conserve the results. This organization is already in existence and invites your support in purse and person. Daytona has a great offer to make to the whole country and should make it in a large and convincing way—the more members—the more funds—the greater results.
This enterprise is one in which every citizen should be willing to join be-

This Institution Makes Christmas a Joy—Christmas Shopping a Pleasure

A Gift Shop that will make the trial of Christmas shopping the trial of Christmas giving.

Christmas giving is devoid of spontaneity when the effort—when selecting the right gift for the right price is a matter of mathematics. Truly good cheer emanates from disinterest. The genuine Christmas spirit disdains all of our gifts. Because for almost all of the year we are close observers of what a woman chooses for herself, as the month we are vested with valuable information as to what others may choose to please her. Just the amount one cares to spend will purchase just the gift one cares to buy, for we have considered every taste, every point and every circumstance of giving—and we offer as many delightful surprises as do Christmas packages when they are opened on Christmas morning.
